

A Lesson from the Past

Years ago, before baking powders were so well known, the housewife sometimes made her own from cream of tartar and soda.

These materials were then comparatively expensive and processes of refining had not been devised to bring them to the high state of purity of the present-day well known cream of tartar baking powders, such as Royal; and yet she never thought of buying alum, then as now a cheap and inferior substitute for cream of tartar. She wouldn't think of permitting an ounce of alum to enter her kitchen.

Yet housekeepers are to-day asked to buy alum baking powders with which to make food for their children.

The statement on the label affixed to every can naming the ingredients of which the baking powder is composed affords a method of protection against the use of undesirable kinds.

RELOCATION OF OLD MINE

Place in Arizona Where General Pesquera Found
Wealth to Finance a War and Win Governorship of Sonora

C. E. Patterson of Graham county, who recently relocated an old lost mine in the Arizona district, was in the city yesterday. The relocation of the mine was filed in Pima county last Friday. There is some old Mexican history connected with this mine which is not far from this side of the Mexican border west of Nogales.

About sixty years ago General Legado Pesquera, later governor of Sonora, when in political and financial straits crossed the line with about 500 soldiers and engaged in mining. Just where he operated was not known but he took out enough gold to rehabilitate himself and finance a war which resulted in his conquest of Sonora.

Since then men have hunted for what he called the Pesquera mine, believed to be somewhere in the Arizona region. There were numerous places in the country where the mine was supposed to be and they have been worked in a small way for half a century. Operations would have been carried on on a large scale but for the lack of water.

Mr. Patterson went into that country and he observed one thing they had excavated the attention of earlier hunters for the Pesquera mine. He noticed a growth of water weeds and trees, the latter of considerable girth, along a comparatively straight line, indicating that there had been at some time a disturbance of the surface so that water found a way to the roots of this vegetation. He made an investigation along this line and found a trench which he believed had been made by Pesquera's miners. He employed men to clean it out and that has been done for a distance of about 500 feet to a depth of 20 feet. It was found that the vein of sulphur for that length. The vein is five feet wide. These old workings are about 1,000 feet northwest of some ruins and an old arrastra evidently used by the miners.

Sixty years ago the Mexicans had no way of handling sulphide ores so that when they followed a vein down to water there was nothing to do but abandon it. That had been done in this case and as the ore on top were taken out, the workings were filled in and concealed. In the old workings are found many timbers of so great size that they have been reduced to chips.

BRIGG S. YOUNG IS NOT COMING

Supreme Chancellor Commander, Knights Pythias,
Detained Because of Fatal
Injury to His Father at Ada, Ohio

A great disappointment was felt among the Knights of Pythias yesterday upon the receipt of the following telegram from Grand Keeper of Records and Seal John D. Loper:

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 28.
Mr. J. D. Loper,
G. K. of B. S.
Phoenix, Arizona.

Must postpone Arizona date. Called home from Oakland by wire, telling of father's fatal injury. Now en route. Letter follows. Will return as soon as I can arrange matters at home. Address Ada, Ohio.

BRIGG S. YOUNG.
The above telegram makes it necessary for this entertainment committee for this occasion to cancel further preparations for the entertainment of the supreme chancellor. The high school auditorium had been secured for the place but same has been cancelled.

Next Friday night, however, is the regular open evening for the entertainment of K. of P.'s and their friends. The committee wishes to announce that the team from Tempe will be present next Friday night at the K. of P. lodge hall and present the Lesson of Friendship for the entertainment and edification of all present.

All Pythians should be present with their families and friends. After the work by the Tempe team, which takes about an hour, there will be dancing and other entertainment.

RECORD DEPOSIT BY THE U. S. LAND OFFICE

Six Thousand Plunks Slipped in Bank.
Season End Rush to Get Filings
In Before January 1

The United States Land office yesterday banked $6,000, the largest amount deposited on any day in many years. Receiver John Birdno testifies as to the amount of the deposit, but made a plea to have the matter kept out of print.

" Tucson might get anxious again for a division of the land office, if it becomes known there how much business we are doing," he said.

The land office business has revived considerably during the past month, due to the natural early winter rush to get filings recorded before the first of the year.

Four Classes Of Irrigators Recognized In New Contract

New Forms of Application
For Water Service Concede Project May Not Be Open Even in Another
Year; New Rates

Water will be served to four classes of irrigators during the coming year, under the new form of application, copies of which were received at the reclamation office yesterday from Washington. Change in the rate from 50c for the third acre foot to 60c, and a revision of the wording permitting the extension of the contract beyond a year, in case the project is not completed by December 1, 1915, are the chief points of difference between the new contracts and those of the year which ends today.

In adding ten cents to the water rate, the reclamation service is returning to the rate of 1913;

other details are practically the same as those of such contracts since the project service was placed on acre foot basis.

Application forms for signature for the year starting tomorrow are of 4 styles. One is for lands having reservoir and natural flow rights, one is for lands having reservoir rights only, a third applies on land not in the reservoir, but having natural flow rights, and the fourth is to be used on lands classed among the 32,000 acres admitted to service when there is at least a million acre feet stored. Rates for all lands with permanent water rights are as follows: $1 for a minimum of two acre feet; 60c for a third acre foot and 75c for each acre foot more. For the lands included in the 32,000 acres, the carrying charge is 60c for each acre foot.

The local office adds the condition that no personal checks will be accepted, and that applications must be signed by the owner, tenant, or agent of the land.

LIFE SENTENCE PASSED BY SAWTELLE AT TUCSON

Jesse Lovelace, Convicted of Statutory Charge, Gets Severe Penalty—Dillon Back with Captives.

Life imprisonment, the most severe sentence imposed in the Arizona federal court since the death decree was passed on Stevens, the murderer, two years ago, was meted out to Jesse Lovelace, convicted of rape, at the Tucson session. Sentence was passed yesterday by Judge Sawtelle, according to United States Marshal Joe Dillon, who returned last night with C. R. Price, a deputy, and nine prisoners.

The party, which was stored at the county jail last night, comprises H. C. Nichols, embazler, Pedro Torres, Dan Torres and Jose Torres, smugglers; George Toriati, violation of United States mails, B. C. Morales, importing immoral women from Mexico; M. Ramirez, Antonio Baltazar, smugglers, and Teodoro Portales, a postoffice robber.

The nine are en route to Santa Fe and will be housed by the addition of three more at Prescott. Lovelace, whose crime was committed on a government reserve, thereby bringing his case into the federal court, was taken directly from Tucson to Leavenworth, Kan., for imprisonment for the remainder of his days.

AMUSEMENTS

ETERNAL CITY; ROME'S INTIMATES IN PICTURES

The two features that seem most likely to be talked about in the screen version of the "Eternal City" at the Arizona, are the beauty of the scenes taken in Rome, both exterior and interior, and the surprisingly fine acting of Pauline Frederick as the much-harassed Donna Roma.

Whatever influence the film promoters may have brought to bear, it was enough to gain entrance for their director and their actors into some of the most attractive rooms and gardens in the ancient city, and while it is a mystery just how the mass meetings in the Coliseum and the marches of the mobs and soldiers to and from it, sometimes suggest daylight, again twilight, and occasionally dark night itself, the audiences are forced to admit that the effects gained are pictorially impressive.

Probably no one expected Miss Frederick to fall in her first experience as a picture star, but it seems equally to be doubted that any one expected her to prove so unusually clever.

Playing opposite her is Thomas Holding, and Fuller Mellich, Frank Lacey, George Majeroni and Max Harlan are also in the picture.

The Arizona will offer "The Eternal City" tonight for the last time.

"Passing of the Third Floor Back" The significance of the title of Jerome's "Passing of the Third Floor Back," which Pauline Frederick will present during his farewell visit at the Elks Friday evening (seats for which are now selling) is not generally understood by American playgoers. The scene is set in a London lodging house, where one sees a circle of average boarders of all sorts and conditions. Into this household comes the passerby, a gentle stranger, who seeks to recall to those around him the better things of life which they have forgotten in their mad rush of ambition and selfish desires.

The passerby rents a room, the only one left, a little hall bedroom at the rear of the third floor, or, as English landladies call it, the third floor back. Thus the stranger, as called The Third Floor Back by the not overly sociable lodgers.

Then comes the passing of The Third Floor Back. His work done, he passes out of the lives of these people, who, though they resented his appearance, look upon his departure as on the loss of a dear and close friend.

Souvenir Day at Amuzu

A romantic tale of the sashbrush, "Red Stephano," is the souvenir day offering at the Amuzu, starting with the show of 10 this morning. It tells of a romantic road agent who is not so bad as he is painted and who gives up his life to save the life of the man he has sworn to kill. "Red Stephano" is a cleverly conceived tale and should make an excellent offering for the ladies gift day. The

Holbrook Blinn at the Lion Today
Today is the last chance to see Holbrook Blinn as the American detective in Frederick Kummer's great drama "The Ivory Snuff Box." It's a dandy photoplay and one that everyone will enjoy, for it does not allow the interest to drag for a moment. Mr. Blinn is ably supported by Alma Belwin and an all star cast. "The Ivory Snuff Box" can safely be said to be a real entertainer, for from beginning to end it will satisfy. Tomorrow the Lion will present Tom Wise in the great race-horse story "Blue Grass," a special Equitable feature.

Armstrong's Farewell

Tonight at the Coliseum theater will positively be the last chance to see the Armstrong Baby Dolls. The company leaves for Chicago for two weeks then into El Paso for three months. In order to give the patrons of this popular playhouse a treat, Mr. Armstrong has arranged to have his whole company of twenty-two people appear at this theater tonight with an entire change of program. Mr. Armstrong, an eighteen-year-old girl, who is the "chickadee" of the woman he loved, but role, Jean Jarvie and Dot Claire will also be seen. Lillian Bessent, the popular Phoenix girl, will return with the famous Baby Dolls.

Redmond Matinee Tomorrow

The Ed. Redmond company will present but one matinee this week, tomorrow afternoon. The attraction this week at the Elks will be "Tess of the Storm Country."

The seat sale for the Forbes-Robertson engagement is now on at the Elks theater.

"Voices from the Past" at Empress

The attraction at the Empress theater tonight is a three part drama with William Child and Lillie Leslie. It is entitled "Voices from the Past," being a story of a man who has as his ward child an eighteen-year-old girl, who is the "chickadee" of the woman he loved, but who was forced to marry another. He secretly loves her but it takes many trying scenes before she realizes it and as last accounts the position that her mother should have had years before.

A Kalem drama "A Girl's Grip," one of the hazards of Helen series. A Vitagraph comedy "Miss Sticky Monte Kiss" featuring Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew. An Essanay comedy "Off For a Boat Ride."

At the Plaza

Today will be shown a special Kriterion photoplay entitled "The Tragedy of Basil Genevieve" containing the story of an infamous married life. The picture is set off by many melodramatic touches. "The Rural Demon," a drama; "Accidents Will Happen" and "Lucky Stone," comedies fill out the bill.
